Roadmap

Roadmap was found on the website. According to their phase 1 and 2 goals, they completed all the objectives and are now getting listed to pancakeswap.

Phase 3 which starts on August, they have some optimistic goals, like COINSBIT Exchange Listing and then later other DEXs. They will need to raise a substantial amount of holders and MC in order to make that happen.

Team visibility

The team was NOT found on the website and have not made a relevant announcement about coming forward and doxxing. This is not a blocker as many crypto tokens teams choose to stay behind the scenes and protect their identities.

The community is very friendly, and seem to reply to new user questions in high velocity. That is a good sign for a new project. They pay attention to new investors and try to keep them informed and hyped.

This is generally a good sign as most altcoins will try to exit and sell/dump as soon as they launch. The fact that there is no privacy on the domain means the project creators can be traced back the address from Canada.
