Team & Whitepaper

Team section was not found on the website .

This is not a blocker as many projects will prefer to hide their identities and do an AMA or come forward with their real profiles later.

Litepaper was found on the website.

The project is a meme coin that rewards holders, and uses money raised from liquidity to support communited voted charities.

Specifically, within the first week of their launch, they have issued their first community voted donation to Boys & Girls Cubs of Boston.

Among their plans is RICKY SWAP, a Decentralized exchange that features custom functionality. RICKY SWAP allows holders to trade with each other. The platform will also be able to decentralized swap BEP20 tokens.

F35 is a low risk project, with a friendly community and a decent amount of holders. The smart contract analysis showed no warnings, and the team has already issued a community voted donation. The roadmap is very promising and so far the team has delivered everything they had planned. A marketing boost will be needed in order to achieve the next roadmap milestones - a lot of trading volume and a significant increase in holders will be required.
